

Email Us to Join A Committee

Dear Member,

Mass-ALA is seeking members to join our Education and Resident Care Committees. This is a great opportunity for you or your staff to collaborate with peers and contribute your knowledge and experience on either topic.

The descriptions and responsibilities of each of these committees are:

Education Committee: Comprised of Mass-ALA members with varied experience, backgrounds, and training. It shall be responsible for advising and assisting with the development of the educational strategies for services and products to members, non-members, and the general public. The committee shall assist in developing educational content for trainings, focused on providing high-quality learning for management and staff working in assisted living.

This committee has 6 meetings per year, with each meeting lasting approximately 2 hours.

Resident Care Committee: Comprised of Mass-ALA members, including resident care nurses and service coordinators. It shall be responsible for advising and assisting the corporation's staff on issues related to resident care services, including resident care issues related to the duties of assisted living nurses and service coordinators and medication management within assisted living residences. In addition, the committee shall be responsible for advising and assisting in the development of tools and resources that foster regulatory compliance and quality improvement for assisted living organizations. This committee shall support other organizational committees in their work to promote high-quality services for residences while ensuring the full spectrum of service models are contemplated in such policies and programming.

This committee has 6 meetings per year, with each meeting lasting approximately 2 hours.

Upon your review of the committee descriptions, if you are interested in becoming a committee member, please contact Christina Broughton, Manager of Member Engagement and Business Development, at CBroughton@mass-ala.org / 781-622-5999 x110.

We look forward to hearing back from you with your intent to join us!
